Description

Painter, sculptor, serigrapher. Born in 1910 in Cleveland, OH, Jane Goldstein moved to New York City in her teens and married Michael Kraike in 1930. After studying art at the Art Students League, Cooper Union, and National Academy of Design, she moved to Hollywood, CA with her husband, a film writer, in 1937. The couple left southern California in 1973, and moved north to the redwood forest area of Mendocino County where Jane focused on silkscreen prints featuring abstract, landscape, and still-life subjects.
