Description

Date: 1967 11x14 Open Signed Description: Deep in thought while composing West Side Story, pen in hand, holding sheet music. The great Leonard Bernstein was America's most famous homegrown musical genius of the 20th Century. He was equally renowned as a conductor, musician and composer of enormously popular musical scores. In 1958, he became the first American born conductor of the New York Philharmonic, as well as the first American to regularly conduct the Vienna State Opera and the La Scala Opera in Milan. As a pianist, Bernstein often appeared as a soloist around the world. As a composer, he is best remembered for his original and riveting Broadway classics.
