Description

---

Sam and Mary Cooke have assembled at Kualii, their Manoa Valley home, a cultural treasure unsurpassed by any other private collection in the islands. The Cookes' assemblage of paintings, drawings, and prints of the Hawaiian Islands uniquely reflects their' kama'aina appreciation for various locales throughout the islands, including generations-long associations with people and places, and a love of legends and history. In this lavishly illustrated catalogue, historian and bibliographer David W. Forbes presents a selection of the collection's finest works. Hardcover: 252 pages, 155 illustrations.
