Description

Attributed to Pierre Auguste Renoir (1841-1919, France.) Compare to the Master's painting, "The Dancer" (Danseuse, 1874.) A formal portrait of a young girl in profile standing in fifth position. This watercolor on paper is signed "Renoir" in lower left, measures 11.5" x 8.5" and comes beautifully framed and matted. Accompanied by a Certificate of Attribution and Provenance. Ships free in the U.S. Is this an original Renoir? Doubtful, but possibly completed by a student in his studio. Beautifully framed and matted, this will be a lovely addition to any art collection. It does come with a COA, but if this were truly done by Renoir as an original, it would sell for several hundred thousand dollars. The original oil on canvas of "The Dancer" (1874) by Renoir is displayed at the National Gallery of Art and the description below is from the <https://www.nga.gov/collection/art-object-page.1211.html> website: The Dancer was one of seven works that Renoir included in the first exhibitio
