Description

"And all along I believed I would find you Time has brought your heart to me I have loved you for a thousand years I'll love you for a thousand more..." ~Christina Perri I created this piece with this title and colors as a kind of tribute to my daughter's wedding in 2015. The title of the piece is a song is from the movie "Twilight". My husband played it on acoustic guitar as Sarah walked down the aisle. The colors of light purple and orange were her primary wedding colors. The piece was difficult emotionally as I was trying to capture the glowing love of childhood sweethearts and the song that had so much meaning for them while incorporating the darkness of the "Twilight" saga. I tried to take dark and light and marry them into a beautiful memory of a very special day.
