Shingo Honda (1944 - 2019, Japan) "Case #125" (1998) is an acrylic painting on canvas measuring 65 x 65 x 3 inches, signed and dated by the artist in the lower right and titled and dated on the verso. The large, impressive abstract work features icy tones, blacks, grays, white with flashes of color in ambiguous geometrics and circles. Honda was killed in December 2019 while in Hawaii. He was a well-known painter, sculptor, and Zen teacher whose work has been featured in galleries in Japan, Hawaii, Los Angeles and elsewhere since 1967. On his website, www.ShingoHonda.com, he is quoted regarding his "Case" series of paintings created while living in Los Angeles between 1992 and 1999, "..., I painted conceptual flowers as though they were captured for a moment on a scrap of paper, something you could tear away to reveal the pure white canvas. And they're in a sort of space, but the space is indeterminate. Where's the bottom? Where's the top? Are the flowers inside or outside? Are they
